University of Trieste and SISSA

WHO AM I?

Highly-motivated Data Scientist with a background in Bioinformatics. Organized and active, I have three big passions: Artificial Intelligence, design and cars. I am a creative and ambitious person, always trying to deliver the best possible product within the deadline. In my free time I am always challenging myself with new topics to read, programming languages to learn or staying up to speed with the tech world. Whatever the product I am building is, I am always looking forward to deliver high-quality Machine Learning solutions packed in an effective, consistent and usable format.
